ATOMIC PROBLEMS

The first really big problem of the international aspects of atomic energy control, since the period immediately after the end of the war, has created a very obvious stir in Washington. This is the question of whether additional secret information shall be given to Great Britain. Bound up with it are the whole relationship between the two nations, the share of America in the uranium supplies of the Belgian Congo, the possibility of an atomic energy cartel rising on the continent of Europe, and future political alignments in Europe.

Thus it can be seen that the question of exchanging atomic energy information with the British is a complex and far-reaching one. But it is only the beginning of the questions which must inevitably stem from the atomic bomb. These questions are terribly serious. If they are answered wrongly the resulting disaster defies imagination. If they are answered rightly, that dreamed-of balance of strength might be achieved which would make war forever impossible.

The explosiveness which will be characteristic of all international relations as long as the atomic bomb hangs overhead is terrifying. It would be far better to find and eliminate the factors in human relations which lead to war, but that has been tried and given up by every previous generation.

There are two possibilities that the atomic bomb, the most murderous weapon ever devised, might force the world to peace. If all the major powers learn its secrets, perhaps none would ever again dare to begin a war. Or the knowledge of its threat might drive the present generation to find the long-sought secret of peace.

BAFFLING THE TIGER

The Toronto Telegram comments editorially on Bernard Baruch's urging of a plan for total mobilization. "His call at a time when there is a lull in the cold war may make him appear an alarmist to the unthinking. He is neither an alarmist nor a war-monger. It is because he hates war that he urges preparation to prevent it. It is because the apparent slackening in international tensions may induce a false sense of security that he gives his warning. There is no security. At any moment the effects of a 'recession' might tempt aggression. It is for such a contingency that the democratic nations have to be prepared. Mr. Baruch's words deserve consideration not only in his own country but in Canada.

Churchill, in his book "The Gathering Storm," indicates many points at which the second world war might have been prevented if the Allies of the first had shown themselves militarily and morally strong. Hitler would never have dared to menace the world, Churchill thinks, had they stood firm, and firmly together, as they should have done, and not allowed him to break the agreements made at the close of the first war. He got away with it because the nations who should have been strong, and shown their strength, weakly let him get away with it.

General disarmament is a sound and constructive theory if it is really general. But general disarmament of factions within a village around whose outskirts a tiger is skulking, waiting for an open gate, a weak spot in the stockade, is not sound. Disarmament, live and let live is good policy; but does the tiger know it?

PRIDE'S REST

A stretching grin from ear to ear,
 A chest expansion puffed with pride;
 Twinkles that you can almost
 And boastfulness in every stride.

Achievement's most exultant joy
 The years again may never bring;
 Look! Homeward bound a bare-foot boy
 With seven bluegills on a string!

Grown men make much of little gains,
 The medals won they proudly show.
 They boast the blood that fills their veins,
 They like to tell how much they know.

Braggarts, at best, their friends annoy,
 Too loudly off their voices ring.
 But all admire and cheer a boy
 With seven bluegills on a string!

Look! As he struts the dusty lane,
 The pole across his shoulder flung,
 Pride such as that men seek in vain,
 That's triumph only for the young!

At their supremest joy and pride,
 Denied to president and king!
 A barefoot boy, and at his side
 Seven bluegills dangling on a string!

REPUBLICAN LEADER-SHIP

The Republican party is scheduled to get a new leader in August. The importance of the fact is not only for Republicans, nor only for its possible bearing on the next elections. It is for the whole nation, because of the continuous influence the party exerts in Congress and in national affairs.

The national chairman does not do much of the policy making for the party, but his identification with the groups within the party reflects the dominant trend of thought. Representative Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who has now announced his intention to resign, was put into the job by the supporters of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the unsuccessful presidential candidate in 1944 and 1948. Immediately after the election there arose a determined move to unseat him, with the argument that the election results were a repudiation of the Dewey leadership by the members of the party. The Omaha meeting of the National Committee in January showed an almost even division over the question of whether the leadership should be changed.

Scott's theme of leadership has been a call for unity in the party. There is bound to be much speculation whether a change of chairman now may lead to abandonment of the unity plea and clearing of the way for a full-scale battle within the party over the evolution of a new direction of policy.

FLOOD RELIEF IN CHINA

The floods in China are said to have made 20,000,000 homeless. If the Yantse were the Mississippi this would be the biggest news story of the year. Disaster aid would have been mobilized on a huge scale and American efficiency would be busy reducing chaos to order, alleviating misery, reuniting separate families and feeding the hungry.

Probably nothing of the sort is going on in China, where one government is on the run and another is consolidating its gains. Both have issued appeals for quick action, but it is unlikely that either can do much in the affected area, in much of which the political situation is still unsettled.

As a group of clergymen pointed out the other day, this could be a wonderful chance for the United States to demonstrate its good will in a Far Eastern area where American prestige has been on the decline. An impartially administered relief program would show the Chinese people who its real friends are. Charity is one field where Russia, whose Communism allows respect neither for the individual nor for humanity, can give us no competition.

Unfortunately, we are unlikely to launch such a program. The American people, disillusioned by Chiang Kai Shek's government and horrified by the Reds, are likely to confuse the Chinese people with their leaders and be dissuaded from such philanthropy. Furthermore, the Chinese Communists would not allow an American relief mission to operate in their territories. They might gladly accept relief supplies and—following the example of their Russian mentors with lend-lease material—use them for their own political purposes. And after accepting the aid they might promptly label the project a sneaky device of capitalist imperialism.

THE FIVE-PER-CENTERS

Early new maneuverings in the uproar over the so-called five-per-centers have brought one of those statements from unidentified "informed quarters" to the effect that no outright graft has been uncovered. There seems to be an implication that none will be found. The five-per-centers, also known as influence brokers, are people who know their way around Washington and who act, for a fee, as go-between in the negotiation of government contracts with private business concerns. It has been said that a business man who wants a government order is wasting his time unless he hires a five-per-center to make the proper contacts with officials.

If it turns out to be true that no government officials have been involved in real graft, everyone will have a sigh of relief. The essential question about the five-per-centers then will be this: Have they tried to corrupt officials of the government? If so, their influence should be destroyed, as a safeguard for the integrity of government. If they have not tried to install corruption, perhaps their activities should be tolerated. The essential part of selling in any field of business is the maintenance of smooth, friendly relations between buyer and seller, a task in normal times assumed by the seller. If the five-per-centers do no more than that, there perhaps is no reason to be excited about them.

The raising of the question of possible corruption of government officials, however it may be answered as to the five-per-centers, ought to turn the thoughts of citizens again to the matter of pay scales for government service. The habit of underpaying government officials is an often tried and almost invariably successful method of assuring that corruption, sooner or later, will appear.

SYRIAN ARMISTICE

The shooting war in Palestine has been over for so long that most people no longer think of it as current news, but the last armistice agreement has just been signed. It is between Israel and Syria, which have been bargaining for three and a half months.

When two warring nations can lay their weapons at their sides and argue for that long over an agreement to quit fighting, finally making the talks bear fruit, there is some hope that people are learning how to get along together.

WATER POLLUTION

The idea is spreading that the clearing up of water pollution is a regional problem, one in which the whole area of a stream or lake must be considered as a unit. Linked with it is a painfully slow disillusionment with respect to the old and still often maintained adage that running water purifies itself in a few miles. It has been realized by those who deal with water that the pure water which used to be found a few miles below a source of steam pollution was a result not of purification but only of dilution. In most streams and lakes the volume of sewage and other waste has now become so great that there is no longer enough water to dilute it to the point of apparent purification.

So an old myth must disappear. With it goes the notion that water pollution is a purely local matter. This already has been recognized by many states, which have enacted pure stream laws and are embarked on the long and rugged road of enforcement. The obvious next step in many cases will be agreement among states which share common waterways, leading to the elimination of pollution throughout the length of a river or shoreline.

Modern plumbing has so long isolated most Americans from their sewage that we are inclined to forget how important it is. That isolation has been a fundamental factor in lifting the general health level in America above that of a large part of the rest of the world. We are in danger of losing that benefit of sanitary plumbing unless we face frankly the matter of isolating our waters from our sewers.

THINGS WE DON'T HAVE

If you want to be happy, philosophers have long advised, think not about the things you desire but about the things you have. But that philosophy has no place in American business, it can be gathered from an address to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce by Charles Luckman, president of Lever Brothers Company. He said 18 million Americans live in homes without washing machines, 25 million in homes with no vacuum cleaners and 27 million in homes with no kitchen sink, and 40 million have neither bathtub nor shower.

He said if Americans think of things like these which millions do not yet have, they might conclude that there is certainly no reason to have a depression at least until these needs are filled. And there's something in what he says.

A successful politician needs some of the attributes of the crab. He needs a sturdy shell, and the ability to move in any direction without turning.

PATH OF PROGRESS

Each summer brings to communities here and there visits from residents of long ago, back for the first time in forty, fifty or sixty years. They find many changes in the old home town.

Sometimes these old-timers lament sadly the passing of "the good old times." But when they were living in them, they could not get out of those old times fast enough into the new age of electricity, gasoline engines, good roads, and fresh vegetables in mid-winter.

If any old-timers are visiting this fair city after an absence of several decades, here's hoping they find that the changes they see are all to the good, and point that out to the present generation. Modern conveniences sometimes get blamed in advance for a predicted decline of civilization, but in the good old days they were seen as milestones on the path of progress.

SECRECY FOR MEMBERS

Ku Klux Klan officials in Georgia hope to carry to the United States Supreme Court the question of whether the state of Georgia can force the Klan to produce its membership list. There is no telling what the Supreme Court might rule on the technical point of the right of an organization to hide the identity of its members, but there is little doubt about what most people think. An American is free to do pretty much as he pleases, but American tradition demands that whatever he chooses to do be done openly and proudly. There is no place for activities which must be hidden behind a mask.

A New York clergyman the other day proposed the idea that mental dejection, experienced by most mortals at one time or another, is a selfish thing. The person who is mentally depressed, he said, ought to go out and do something for somebody who needs it. He might have something there.

They take their politics seriously in South America. Dispatches from Colombia report that party clashes in three states resulted in the deaths of 17 men. What would happen if they had some really contentious issue at stake?

Announcement is made of an electrically operated window for standard installation in houses. Now what is really needed is one that will close automatically when a rain threatens to splatter the sills and curtains.

One of the continuing phenomena of modern times is that other people never think of the housewife as having a full-time job.

Eat With Brewer—South Highway 75

Airline Road To Fort Worth Is Almost Assured

A farm-to-market series of roads from Fort Worth in a southeasterly direction to Mexia and other points via West Navarro county communities is almost a reality, according to information from officials of the Airline Highway Association. This organization is sponsoring such a direct route to Fort Worth to relieve the congested main highways that carry traffic into Dallas and thence to Fort Worth or leave the highway at Ennis and go to the Tarrant county capital via Waxahachie.

The farm-to-market route has been programmed or is under construction with the exception of 15 miles in Ellis county from Venus to Italy via Maypearl.

The route, beginning at Fort Worth, touches Venus, Maypearl, Italy, Frost, Dawson, Tehuacana, Mexia, Jewett, Concord, Flynn, Normange, North Zulch, Tola and Singleton.

The farm-to-market road from Italy to Frost and from Dawson to the road leading to Tehuacana has been completed, while the section from Frost to Dawson via Emmett, Brushy Prairie and Spring Hill has been designated for construction by the Texas highway commission, and a portion from Frost to Emmett is under contract.

Fred Harvey Is District USO Campaign Head

Fred H. Harvey, Jr., of Corsicana has been named District 59 chairman of the Texas USO reactivation campaign. T. E. Brantiff, state campaign chairman, has announced. District 59 embraces Navarro, Freestone and Leon counties.

The Texas campaign is for $500,000 toward a national goal of $10,000,000.

There are 98,000 young men and women from Texas now in uniform, Harvey said.

"If our young people can give up valuable years out of their lives in the defense of their country, we civilians at home certainly can show our gratitude and our support through the USO," Mr. Harvey said.

Harvey is district manager of the Texas Power and Light Co.

A RESOLUTION
 PASSED BY JOHNSON-WIGGINS POST NO. 22, DEPARTMENT OF TEXAS, CORSIANA, TEXAS, AS TO THE MEMORY OF POST COMMANDER, BEAUFORD H. JESTER.

Our buddy and friend, Beauford H. Jester, was called to his eternal rest on July 11, 1949.

Beauford H. Jester was a charter member of Johnson-Wiggins Post No. 22, at Corsicana, Texas, and he held continuous membership in our post from the date of its organization to the time of his death. He was elected Post Commander of this Post the second year after it was organized, and he served capably and creditably, earning for the success of our young organization, making friends for both the American Legion and for himself.

Beauford Jester was a friend of all veterans, and his efforts on behalf of veterans and their families were tireless. As Governor of Texas, he sponsored and steered to final passage a bill creating a State Veterans' Hospital, a board composed of veterans working for the interests of veterans. Having served gloriously as a Captain in the infantry during the first World War, he knew and understood the problems of veterans, and he made their problems his problems.

As a statesman, and as Governor of Texas, Beauford H. Jester conclusively established that he had the interest and the welfare of his fellow man and fellow Texan at heart. His record as a public servant will stand as a monument to his greatness and his love of humanity, and he will be remembered with love and affection for long years after we, who knew him intimately, cease to live.

This Post and all its members grieve over the loss of our buddy and friend, and while our hearts are heavy in sorrow, we have deep feelings of sympathy for the widow and family of our dear departed friend. It is hoped that they will find consolation from the fact that they have so many who join them in their desolation and bereavement.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY JOHNSON-WIGGINS POST NO. 22, DEPARTMENT OF TEXAS, AMERICAN LEGION, that this Resolution be spread upon the permanent minutes of the American Legion Post as a memorial to the life and service of our departed Legionnaire and Buddy, Beauford H. Jester. Let it speak to generations to come.

Beauford Jester was a stalwart and brave soldier, a staunch and loyal friend, a great and noble statesman, a man among men.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this Resolution be sent to the widow and family of our departed buddy as an expression of our deep feelings of loss over his untimely call; and that a copy be delivered to the Corsicana Daily Sun as our tribute to a loyal Legionnaire and buddy.

PASSED at a regular meeting of the Johnson-Wiggins Post No. 22, DEPARTMENT OF TEXAS, AMERICAN LEGION, By W. H. TIPTON, Post Commander

ATTEST:
 JOE M. DANIEL, Adjutant.

CARD OF THANKS.
 We wish to thank each of you who contributed in any way to Troy's comfort and happiness during his illness, and gratefully acknowledge the many kindnesses shown us in our bereavement.—The Fred E. Anderson Family.

DDT Solution To Be Given Away

Starting Monday, 60 gallons of DDT liquid, a six per cent solution, will be given free to persons who bring their own containers to the Sherwin-Williams Paint Store, 114 South Beaton street, J. W. Wood, store manager, announced the store.

The solution is similar to DDT liquid which has been used by cities in this area for spraying purposes.

To see that more people benefit from this give-away offer, Wood said it would be necessary to limit it to one quart per person.

Wood said the liquid could be used on screens, porches, garbage cans, etc., and would kill all walking, crawling or flying bugs and insects.

Charles Copeland Burned In Tractor Mishap Tuesday

Charles Copeland of Corsicana, who farms at Pursley, suffered severe burns on the left hand, left arm and right hand Tuesday when a tractor backfired. He is in the Navarro Clinic.

Fred M. Copeland, Pursley, county commissioner, said his son was cleaning fouled sparkplugs and that as he turned the motor over, gasoline was thrown out of a cylinder on him and the backfire ignited the fuel.

A graduate of North Texas State in 1937, Currin will be head coach of the sports. He has been a member of the highway patrol eight years, seven of which have been in Corsicana.

Judge Seriously Hurt; Groesbeck Mayor Charged

GROESBECK, July 30.—(AP)—Judge Fountain Kirby was in a serious condition today and the mayor of Groesbeck was charged with assault with intent to murder the veteran jurist.

Deputy Sheriff Dave Claridge of Limestone county said Kirby was beaten Thursday night as he was on the way home from court. Commissioner Claude Garrett, Sr., said the city commission accepted Allen Therrell's resignation as mayor at 1 p. m. yesterday.

The charge against Therrell was filed before County Judge Clarence Ferguson by Sheriff Bill Green. The county judge said Therrell waived examining trial and was bound over to the grand jury. He was released on $2,500 bond. The grand jury meets August 1.

Kirby, 62, has served more than 20 years on the bench of the 77th District court. Before that he was in county office. "As far as we have been able to determine, the cause was something long standing and nothing recent."

The judge is well known in Texas for the number and variety of his injunctions. Many of them in the past affected liquor cases and truckload limits. He was an unsuccessful candidate for congress in the Sixth District in 1940.

Miss Crocker Is Now Making Her Home At Ennis

ENNIS, July 30.—Miss Willard (Tillie) Crocker, after 28 years service with Jackson Motors, has retired and returned from Houston to Ennis to make her home with her brother, J. S. Crocker, Southern Pacific Sunbeam motor car dealer. She was office manager for the firm.

The Houston Chronicle recounts: Miss Crocker first went to work for Mr. (R. J.) Jackson in 1921 when he was head of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce in Corsicana. At that time, Miss Crocker was living in Ennis and commuted back and forth every day for a year while she did secretarial work in Corsicana.

In August, 1923, she joined the Jackson Motors organization as bookkeeper. When March 1, 1931, rolled around, Jackson Motors moved to Tyler and Miss Crocker moved right along with the company. In 1934, the organization moved to Houston and Miss Crocker has been a Houstonian ever since.

This week, Miss Crocker is going back to her home town of Ennis. There she'll keep house for her brother, a veteran railroad man, and together they'll build a new country home. Miss Crocker temporarily is at the Miss Willard Bradshaw home, 308 North Preston. Before many months, she and her brother will be living in their new residence, upon which they have just begun construction, a mile east of Ennis on Highway 34.

Navarro County Boy Scouts Planning To Take Active Part In Local Fair

Navarro county Boy Scouts will take an active part in the forthcoming Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show here on Sept. 27-Oct. 1.

County scout officials this week named Jack Sisco as general chairman in charge of planning a Scout exposition for the annual fair event. The exposition, which will feature almost every troop in the county, will serve a three-fold purpose: acquaint newcomers and adults to the Scouting movement, to act as a basis for the awarding of merit badges, and to inform the interested Scouting public of two sweeping changes in the national Boy Scouts organization.

New Officers Are Named Thursday By AG Teachers

M. S. Hammack, Vocational Agriculture Teacher at Ferris High School, was elected as the new president of the Ellis-Navarro District of Vocational Agriculture Teachers at a special meeting held Thursday afternoon in Dallas.

Hammack succeeds James Davis, teacher at Mildred. Roy Cloud, teacher at Kerens, was elected vice president and James Cummins, teacher at Corsicana, secretary.

Also under discussion at this meeting was a proposal to move the meeting place of the District from Navarro Junior College to the vocational agriculture building at Corsicana High School.

This meeting was carried on in conjunction with the State Conference of Vocational Agriculture Teachers, which was held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in Dallas with 700 vocational agriculture teachers attending.

President Hammack announced that another meeting would be held in Arlington August 9, at which time plans for the Corsicana Fair and Rodeo would be discussed. At that time the teachers of this district will participate in an Area V. "Farm Wiring School," to be held on the North Texas Agriculture College campus.

Navarro County was represented at the meeting and the conference by teachers from Blooming Grove, Dawson, Emhouse, Frost, Kerens, Mildred and Corsicana.

New Farm Bill Listed As "Must" For Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Senator Lucas of Illinois, the senate Democratic leader, called today for passage of a farm bill, the included it on a long list of "must" measures that may keep congress in session well into September.

Lucas told a reporter he sees little chance that congress can get away before Labor Day (September 5). To get action on administration bills, the lawmakers will just have to stay here, he said.

Among measures Lucas scheduled for action are the house-approved reciprocal trade agreements bill, a measure to lift the minimum wage level to 75 cents an hour, a house-approved proposal to increase government salaries from cabinet members down the line, the pending foreign arms program, a displaced persons bill, appropriations measures and a civil rights bill.

Republican senators will discuss tomorrow a proposal by Senator Morse (R-Ore.) that they back a plan for congress to wind up its present work August 20 and come back November 15.

Lucas said he would rather go on through than to have any such recess.

Lucas said he will keep the senate working on appropriations bills until all of them have been passed. The minimum wage proposal will come up then, with reciprocal trade agreements legislation behind it.

The senate may untangle itself early this week from a parliamentary knot which has held up final action on the $5,500,000,000 foreign aid funds bill.

The measure was sent back to committee to strip out amendments that had been challenged as violating the rule against policy-making proposals in money bills. It comes back to the senate today with some of the amendments reworded.

Two Prisoners Escaping Work Detail Return

Two prisoners who escaped from a work detail last Wednesday near Barry walked into the jail and surrendered to Sheriff David Castles reported Monday.

One of the prisoners, James Lacy DeMoss, 18, is under a five-year suspended sentence which County Attorney Charles T. Banister has asked District Court to revoke.

DeMoss was serving 30 days for misdemeanor theft when he and James W. (Bud) Dozier, 21, fled from the work detail, eight miles north of Barry. Dozier was laying out a fine (ten days) for disturbing the peace.

Banister filed his motion to revoke DeMoss' suspended sentence, assessed several months ago as a burglary conviction, with the district clerk Monday morning. The escape of the prisoner had nothing to do with this action, it was explained, but DeMoss' recent conviction of misdemeanor theft prompted the move.

Sheriff Castles said DeMoss' father brought the youth to the county jail about 1 p. m. Sunday. Dozier surrendered about 4 p. m. Saturday, Castles said.

These discussions centered around reports that Cumpston "murdered a Mexican in a well" once, was "plotted happy" and had a "bad character," witnesses said.

A question propounded to the defendant as he testified at the trial July 21 came under defense counsel's attack, also. Special Prosecutor Will Justice of Athens had asked Cumpston: "This isn't the first time you've been in jail?" Attorney Matt Dawson's objection was sustained by the court at the time, but he contended in his motion for a new trial that the "poison" put into the minds of the jurymen was not removed despite the judge's instructions that the question was not to be considered.

Jurors who testified at the hearing Saturday were C. E. Brison, foreman; Clark Dubose, Marshall Howard, Elbert Owens, David Kates, John Pugh, Chester Norris, R. T. Monfort, Ralph Sawyer, and William Croft.

From their testimony, conflicting reports of jury room activity during deliberations were given. Some said they heard nothing mentioned about Cumpston killing a Mexican. Others did.

Pugh and Norris, who made affidavits that were attached to the defendant's new trial motion, were the leading defense witnesses. In addition to reporting discussions of character, they said it was brought out that the defendant showed "no remorse" for the killing of a fellowman. But I am confronted with difficult question—not a matter of law, but a matter of fact.

I concur with the defense that an overt and improper act was committed in the jury room, but did it injuriously affect the defendant?

The judge then declared that in this country a man is tried of a crime according to the rules of the law. He said he personally couldn't "relate to the jury room of a man on a jury, trying a man for murder, and it was brought out that the defendant had killed another man. So he held that such a discussion in the jury room of the Cumpston case was injurious to the defendant, and he set aside the previous verdict.

Defense attorneys Matt Dawson and Doyle Bevelhouse immediately made arrangements to post Cumpston's $5,000 bond, set by Judge Mays.

Some observers predicted that Cumpston would seek a change of venue on the new trial date, next Thursday, contending that a fair and impartial jury can not be secured in Navarro county. Attorneys would not confirm this, however.

The state, through County Attorney Charles T. Banister and Justice of the Peace, has not yet contested the motion. Their witnesses included about seven jurors who testified they failed to hear anything mentioned about Cumpston killing a Mexican.

granted the new trial, Judge Mays said the main question was whether or not the jury's misconduct in its deliberations had a harmful effect on the defendant.

I have no sympathy for anyone who goes out and takes the life of a fellowman. But I am confronted with difficult question—not a matter of law, but a matter of fact.

2. The possibility of using atomic energy devices—because these insects readily absorb one of the by-products of atomic fission.

3. The possibility of using atomic energy to help remove dangerous radioactive materials from atomic energy waste products—just like ordinary sewage is treated.

4. Successful use of radioactive materials to diagnose male sex hormone deficiencies in victims of the "Manchurian Candidate" during the war. Some of these men, said the AEC, had developed breasts like women as a result of malnutrition and reduced their production of normal male hormones.

5. Development of elaborate safeguards for the protection of atomic workers—including an emergency evacuation plan in case an atomic plant should be affected by an earthquake.

reached as far as I'm personally concerned."

Calhoun has stated on previous occasions that the governor would be given a free hand in selecting the "Manchurian Candidate."

"Any loyal Democrat that the governor might select would be acceptable, I'm sure, to a large majority of our committee," Calhoun added.

Houston newspapers Sunday predicted that Wheat, a former member of the state prison board and a former member of the state Democratic executive committee, would be the next secretary.

Stuart Long, Austin newspaperman and committeeman, has frequently been mentioned as a strong contender for the post prior to Governor Jester's death.

The selection is scheduled to be made at the October meeting of the committee in Lufkin.

Add Years To Your Life!

By W. P. BROWN

Of Johnson's Pharmacy

How life can be extended by the individual through simple and constant care is not as much appreciated nor as well understood as it should be.

Medical knowledge has increased rapidly in recent years, but public education in health has never kept pace. Consequently many people are not aware of all the precautionary measures doctors can take against disease, of the many operations that will restore health, and of the miraculous drugs now available for every phase of medical care.

Consult a physician at least once a year. Follow his advice. Buy only prescribed medicine. Procure it from a skilled, conscientious pharmacist.

Large Attendance At North Side Baptist Church

Large crowds were in attendance upon all the services Sunday at the North Side Baptist church. The pastor filled the pulpit at both the worship services. On Sunday evening we had a great service, some 75 people came forward renewing their vows to God and pledging themselves and their homes to deeper Christian service.

There were 272 in Sunday school with 110 in Training Union.

The regular midweek services will continue at the usual hour Wednesday evening. The regular church business meeting will be held at this time.

We urge our people to attend the music school at the First Baptist church this week, under the direction of Tommie Dixon.

on a 9-hole course at Nuevo Laredo, where he was killed "from here," they said he arrived at the course about 9 a. m.

As they were playing word came that a murder had been committed at the hotel.

Later on they said someone approached Ochoa and told him that a double murder had been reported in Laredo and that Ochoa's name had been taken to the police.

"That's ridiculous," they quoted Ochoa as replying.

Some time later they said Ochoa laughed and said:

"Wouldn't it be funny if they read in the paper that I just killed people?"

Two of the golfers who played with Ochoa and Joe Nieto, a shoe store manager, and Manuel Sanchez, also of Laredo.

They said on one of the 9-hole rounds Ochoa shot a 42, which they said was better than his usual game.

Officers said that up to noon today they had not been able to trace Ochoa after he finished playing golf. They believe he is still in Mexico.

Police Chief D. O. Gallagher said both men were killed by 32 caliber bullets. He said he was convinced the bullets were fired from the same pistol.

Gallagher said the man who shot Whittenberg apparently slipped down the shadowy hotel stairs to Lindsay's room and killed him.

Both men were shot in the back. Lindsay was shot in the head. Whittenberg was shot in the chest.

Friday night raiders armed with shotguns and rifles entered the darkened and deserted establishment.

"I am going to take the gloves off today in the prostitution situation and start swinging," Mason said.

"The word has been passed to me I better shut up or else."

"This is my answer—this is my challenge. As long as a situation like this is permitted to continue I shall let it every day."

A new fact comes to my attention.

The 61-year old radio commentator, who had worked on newspapers throughout the United States, was shot as he sat in his automobile. Star witness for the state will be Avelino Saenz, Alice was veteran, who was in the car with Mason when the slaying occurred.

In an interview, Saenz said Smithwick ordered Mason to stop and then walked up to Mason's car and shot him.

Smithwick placed himself in jail following the shooting.

An examination of the Smithwick will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the court of Brown Ford, justice of the peace.

Smithwick has been a peace officer in Jim Wells county for 25 years. He has farm and ranch interests near Alice. He has continued to refuse to make any statement.

In the funeral service for Mason the Rev. A. W. Evers, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, said: "Bill Mason had his good points and his faults, as do we all. I speak as a man who respected his abilities and courage, and did not like his weakness."

"We know the things of his life that he set out to do and did do—and the failures. There remains little to be said in the way of an obituary."

"This should be a period of the calmest, quietest, most reflective thinking we have ever done. Tragedy has stalked our town for many a day. The light of the world is cast upon us all of you that it this moment we shall face the Lord and the way of God."

"Let us write of this our attitude though strong, should be Christlike and Godlike."

Burial was in a treeless section of the Alice fraternal cemetery. The sun burned down, the temperature was 90 degrees, and for the hundreds of mourners there was no shade.

Education Board Leaves Textbook Issue Unsettled

AUSTIN, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The state board of education left the question of deciding whether or not it is empowered to make textbook selections for next year hanging over until its September meeting.

An opinion has been requested of the attorney general on whether or not the board which will be elected Nov. 8 has the power to make selections or extend contracts on textbooks for a year.

The annual textbook meetings set by law for Nov. 14, six days after the new board will be elected.

The decision to put the question until September came after it had been proposed to the board that no new textbook adoptions be made, or contracts entered into, for one year. Member R. E. Cousins, Jr., of Austin made the proposal.

"I have investigated the matter and am thoroughly convinced we need no new textbooks for a year," Cousins told the board.

"The best way to use up the supply on hand would be to utilize them without replacements."

The next meeting was set for September 12 in Mineral Wells.

Decisions on approval for a new junior college for Ellis county was also postponed until September.

The board approved good neighbor scholarships for 80 students from Latin American countries. They will study in the University of Texas, Texas A. and M. and at Saint Houston State Teachers College.

The appointive board was holding one of the last sessions of its existence, and it faced mostly routine matters.

Work Continues On Compromise Of Tideland Issue

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) said today officials of oil tideland states still are working on the draft of legislation designed to settle ownership of the submerged lands.

"The writing of a bill is in the final stages," Rayburn said, though some discussion is still going on concerning provisions for management of inland waters. Earlier he expressed hope the bill would be ready for introduction by the first of this week.

under whether any five percenters have tried to influence government procurement officials.

Important Evidence

Sen. Robert D. New, subcommittee chairman, said today the group has unearthed evidence it regards as more important than the information it has obtained from Maragon.

Meanwhile, housing expediter Tighe Woods said in an interview that the senate investigators have been looking for files of his agency in tracking down the activities of former Army officer James V. Hunt, a key figure in the case.

Maragon was questioned last week. It is unclear whether he ever received any money from the group for any work he ever did in connection with the government, excluding a small amount he was paid as an agent on a mission to Greece for the state department.

He said he had not.

He testified that he once went to the war assets administration (WAA) office in Washington, D. C., two men who wanted to buy surplus machinery for use abroad.

Maragon swore he never received a picture in pay for his part in the picture.

Maragon told the subcommittee that a newspaper columnist (Drew Pearson) wrote that he (Maragon) had paid $50,000 for aiding the two men.

He reported his income for 1945 was $7,740—$1,740 of it from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, for which he worked as a commercial representative, and $6,000 from the Albert Verley Co., a perfume oil firm.

Maragon testified that in 1946 he earned $8,000 from the Verley Co., and $1,800 from the state department in connection with the mission to Greece. He listed his 1947 income as $4,200 from the Charles M. Ingels Co., a perfume oil firm, and $600 interest on Baltimore & Ohio bonds.

In 1948, Maragon testified he was paid $1,000 by J. Buncher Co., also no further income, and $1,250 from the Verley Co.

Time after time he was asked whether he had any other income. Each time he said no.

Mayor Charged With Accepting Bribe Of $1000

HOBBES, N. M., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Mayor J. Paul Heard has been charged with accepting a $1,000 bribe to protect a negro labor club against gambling raids.

He calls the charge "morbid damn politics."

The former state Young Democrats president posted $5,000 property bond after his arrest Saturday night. It was signed by Mrs. Agnes C. Heard, Hobbs Flare publisher, and J. D. Heath, city councilman.

A grand jury meets Aug. 11 to start investigating Heard's administration. It was called by Dist. Judge George last week after two other members of the city council presented petitions asking for a probe.

Sheriff Horace Owens said L. S. Booker, negro hotel and bar proprietor, told him he paid ten $100 bills to the mayor about June 20 after being told he could operate gambling at the labor club on payment of the sum. Booker said the place was raided a few days later.

BOYLE'S Column

NEW YORK—(P)—The big news today is "It's cooler."

Those two magic words were of more interest along the heat-hit Eastern Seaboard than the standings of the Major league baseball teams, or the question of arming friendly nations under the Atlantic Pact.

"It's cooler!"

Everybody said it—and everybody felt it. Everybody was on relief—on relief from the weather. And glad to be!

Because the weather has been on every mind all summer long. It's had everybody by the throat—gasping, here is this haze-by-the-Hudson.

Never in history has so much humanity been wedded to so much humidity, nor longed so hard for a divorce. The month of July was the hottest ever recorded here.

The weather has played all kinds of strange pranks on people. We had a few days of the fall in Washington, D. C., who stole 36 gallons of anti-freeze solution. Let us take up television.

In the ordinary television program you see two of everything, even if you have 20-20 vision. This is normal, and the second figure is known as the "ghost." But in the current heat wave every character on a television program looks like the Dionne quintuplets.

At the beach you can't see the sands for the people.

The refrigerated movie palaces have done a thriving business. Some folks have simply moved into them for the duration. As one captain-of-ushers put it:

"We don't mind them bringing box lunch, but washing their nylon shorts in the men's room—that's going too far."

Along 51st street—the poor man's glamor lane—they tell of a heat-desperate patron who pulled out a pistol and told a bartender trying to close the joint at 4 a. m.:

"It's all right if you want to go home, but I'm staying here. And you're going to leave the air-conditioning on, too."

Never Too Late.
VERNON, Aug. 1.—(P)—Ben Jenkins, 88, says he will become a father for the 24th time in August.

The negro grocery store employee's third wife is 35.
